A WISE STEP.

Once a year it is the privilege of the ratepayers of towns and cities to say whether or not they are satisfied with the manner in which the business of the town or city was conducted during the year. This they make known by their selection of candidates to fill vacancies which automatically occur each year.

This year the ratepayers of Redcliff had this privilege but as there were no questions of grave importance agitating the people in connection with our public bodies, the ratepayers acted wisely in not forcing an election at the present time.

The action of our ratepayers in this connection is but a sample of what would have occurred in the large field of politics if it had been left to the people concerned and they had not been interfered with by outside party leaders.

THE BOY SCOUTS.

A meeting to organize the Boy Scouts is advertised to take place in the school tomorrow (Friday) evening at 7 o'clock.

In a town like this where the natural gas does away with the usual chores around home for the boy, it is very essential that some means should be devised whereby these lads can be given something to do to work off their surplus energy during their leisure hours. The Boy Scouts movement furnishes one way of providing this desired end. The aims and objects of the movement, together with the training along very important lines in a boy's life, should interest parents to the extent that all who have boys of the ages mentioned should see that they attend the meeting Friday night and get enthusiastic in the movement.

HUNS AT WORK HERE.

Let no one think that German influences are not at work in Canada now when our country is on the verge of a general election. Can it be supposed that the enemy intrigues who have for three years been actively conspiring in Argentina, Brazil, Mexico,—not to mention the United States—have been content to let Canada alone? No! The hidden hand of Germany has been at work, and is now at work in every constituency of Canada, to defeat union government, and to paralyze Canada's arm in continuing the war. In Quebec, where most of the Wilfrid Laurier's candidates are pro-German, where opposition to conscription has not stopped short of murder-plots, this fact is obvious. What is true of Quebec is true of every province, but especially so in the West where more inaudibly disguised.

Canada's soldiers have made a record for valor in this conflict that has not been surpassed in the entire annals of war. That is admitted by German generals themselves, and it is one of the reasons why Germany is anxious out of the war. But there are greater reasons! Germany wants to be able to advertise to her own people that Britain's greatest colony has withdrawn her support from the Motherland! The moral effect of that statement to the German people is the most stupendous. Germany also desires that the Canadian troops which have fought so nobly, and endured so much, should be humiliated and disheartened by the knowledge that their fellow countrymen and fellow-women had deserted them in the hour of trial.

ALL DOUBT REMOVED.

Bourassa and Laurier, down in Quebec, say Canada should never have entered this war. They say it is time enough for Canada to fight when her own shores are threatened. By this these men and their followers say, in effect: Wait till the women and children of Canada are being murdered, outraged, mutilated and slaughtered, as they have been in Belgium and Serbia, and then we will fight.

It is only by a geographical accident that our women and children are not being subject to such treatment now. There is only one way to safeguard them against it in the future and that is by driving the military mad Hun back where he belongs NOW and not give him a chance to invade our peaceful Dominion. If Germany should be successful in this conflict and, after defeating all Europe, decide to invade Canada, what chance would a young country like this have against world conquerors? Yet these men tell us Canada has nothing to fear.

Such is not the view held by President Wilson and his predecessors at the White House, Mr. Taft and Colonel Roosevelt. If such men are convinced that a German victory would imperil a great country like the United States, what are the perils which a young country like Canada must face? A rich land with great naval bases on two oceans, with enormous undeveloped resources, with everything that could tempt a predatory foe! Suppose France were defeated and compelled to cede her colonies as the price of retaining the semblance of her nationality! Germany's first demand would be for the French colony of St. Pierre-Miquelon, two French islands in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and once established there, it is easily figured out that it would only be a matter of days till it would take a hang sail smarter man than Christopher Columbus to discover this half of the American continent. Such utterances from Bourassa and Laurier should leave no doubt in the minds of the Canadian people as to where the leaders of the opposition to union government stand. Neither should it leave any doubt in a voter's mind as to how he or she will vote on the 17th of next month.

Danger of Gasoline

In Private Garages

The increasing use of the automobile has caused many out-buildings to be converted into private garages. This conversion, in many cases, carries with it the storage of more or less gasoline. In almost all municipal regulations this storage is held to be objectionable. It is highly dangerous and constitutes a risk, not only to the garage itself, but to adjoining property.

Gasoline will give off 130 times its bulk in vapor, and, when vaporized, will convert 1,600 times its volume of air into an explosive mixture, which will ignite from a blaze or spark. Five gallons of gasoline will generate 8,000 cubic feet of gas, or enough to fill a room 20 by 40 feet and 10 feet high. When ignited, it immediately expands to 4,000 times that space. In a built-up area this would cause a most destructive explosion, with probable loss of life. The temptation to keep a rather large supply of gasoline on hand is great, and garages should, therefore, be inspected by local fire departments for dangerous conditions.

Miss Louise Oliversen, self-declared anarchist, convicted last week on six counts of an indictment charging violation of the espionage laws, was sentenced to ten years in the state prison at Canon City, Col., by Judge Jeremiah Neter in the federal court. She accepted sentence without comment.

Russia May Yet Come Back Strong

The situation in Russia is unique in history, according to the Petrograd correspondent of the Morning Post, writing Saturday, but it is not advisable to attempt to raise the curtain upon "the mysteries of tragic-comedy drama." The correspondent insists that Russia will right herself if generously allowed the necessary latitude by the allies, and next spring it will put new weapons in the field to fight the invader with the success that marked Russian efforts earlier in the war. "In the meantime," he adds, "the situation is extremely curious. Some force which is above and beyond all contending parties is putting spokes into the wheels of all of them." The correspondent cites various interference with the administration without, however, elucidating his suggestions.

Food Controller Says:

The report of the Minister of Agriculture for France, which shows a total cereal crop of less than one half of that for a normal year, emphasizes the necessity that Canada should strain every effort to provide food needed overseas for the armies and the populations behind the fighting lines. There is a large deficit among all the cereals with the exception of barley. Despite very great efforts to maintain production, the native wheat supply of France is the poorest on record for the last fifty years, amounting to only 39,582,100 quintals (1 quintal—220.46 lbs.), as compared with 50,919,000 quintals in 1915, 70,805,000 quintals in 1916, 49,650,000 quintals in 1917, and 55,767,320 quintals in 1918.

As a consequence of the greatly reduced production of food on the farms of France, the people of the Republic may still further to reduce their consumption of bread. The bread rationing system has been adopted in Paris and the other large centres and the amount of wheat flour which may legally be used in bread is limited to 30 per cent. France has already made tremendous sacrifices and in this time of need is depending more than ever before upon the people of North America for food. The call has come to us to ensure that so far as is possible supplies will be forthcoming in order that the soldiers need not have their valours reduced below the efficiency minimum and that thousands of women and children may be saved from terrible suffering and even from actual starvation.

Two members of the union government cabinet were stoned and a theatre in which they held a political meeting was wrecked by a mob during a pitched battle between anti-conscriptionists and government supporters in Sherbrooke, Que., last Thursday.

CYRUS ORDERING IN SIGHT OF BATHYON, IN D.W. GRIFFITH'S "INTOLERANCE"

Arranging Sale of Breeding Cows

John J. Marshall, solicitor of agriculture, announces he has plan for increasing the hog production in Alberta, at the request of the food controller, as follows:

Arrangements are being made by the provincial department for the purchase of some five or six hundred breeding sows. These are to be collected at Calgary and Edmonton to be raised to farmers at cost. A large number of these no doubt will be bought at the packing plants where they have been shipped for slaughter, and in that way they will be rescued to be used for breeding purposes.

The agricultural societies throughout the province have been requested by the minister of agriculture to organize their districts and make a thorough canvass of farmers, with an effort to induce them to put in two or three extra breeding sows, either to be purchased in the locality or to be bought from the department.

The purchase and distribution of the breeding sows will be in charge of W. F. Stevens, the live stock commissioner and all parties wishing to purchase these sows will communicate with Mr. Stevens, at his office, Parliament Buildings, Edmonton.

Any farmer is at liberty to purchase sows that they may want direct from the department without relation to his agricultural society. But if a number of farmers can enter through the Agricultural Society or through the local union of the U. F. A., better shipping arrangements can be made and the cost somewhat lessened, but this appeal is being made generally throughout all the newspapers in the province of Alberta, for the farmers to assist in the production of sows which is an absolute essential to the winning of the war.

Canadian Cavalry

Does Good Work

Canada was splendidly represented in the great British advance of November 20th which broke the Hindenburg line and drove the enemy back on Cambrai. For the first time since the German retreat from Beaumont last spring the Canadian cavalry went really into action with their horses. Operating from right centre opposite the village of Masnières, the cavalry behind the lines waited at dawn for the signal which would send them forward after the tanks and infantry had opened a way.

It was 5.20 p. m. when they penetrated the enemy's country through wire cut by the British troops who were south of the town and galloped into the line. "What follows equals anything in the history of the Empire."

The gallant band was isolated, and stampeding the horses, to direct the enemy's machine guns, what was left of the squadron prepared to return. As they had charged forward, saluting everything, so now they fought their way back on foot with their Lee-Enfield and bayonets.

In addition to putting out of action the battery, the killing of a large number of horses in fighting between Masnières and southern roads, three main lines of the enemy telephone communications had been cut and invaluable information had been secured of the enemy's dispositions.

There are half facts of a war. It is impossible to convey the great masses of the war, and the expending the war of defence and the smothering of his communications.

Big Profit in Barnyard Manure

One by-product of most prairie farms that is only utilized to a small extent is the barnyard manure. In order to determine the amount of profit that can be derived from barnyard manure applied on the rich prairie soils, an experiment was started on the Scott Experimental Station in 1914. Three years' results are now available and the figures are an average of the increased yields, from the application of manure, secured during the past three seasons.

The manured land yielded an increase of from 3 to 6 bushels of wheat per acre, and from 10 to 21 bushels of oats per acre, according to the system adopted. The best results were obtained from plowing rotted manure under in the spring and the next best by plowing it under in the autumn. With wheat approximately $2.00 per bushel and other grains correspondingly high, the profitability of utilizing barnyard manure is well forth the consideration of every farmer.

Hard Fighting Still On Western Front

Extremely hard fighting, with the Germans using great force of infantry in massed formation, is taking place along the southwestern and southern sections of the Cambrai salient.

In the region of Genelles, Lavacquerie and southward to Vendhuile and northward toward Masnières, the battle waged with great ferocity throughout Monday, but with the Germans nowhere successful in breaking the front. At Lavacquerie they again succeeded in penetrating the village from which they were ejected previously, but a strong counter-attack again turned the scales in favor of Gen. Byng's forces, who threw out the enemy, inflicting heavy casualties on him.
